

Welcome to the Mountains

Imagine a beautiful, quiet place in the forest, far from the hustle, bustle and glitter of most vacation spots. Think of what you would need and want in such a place. Chances are, you thought of Monroe County, TN, the true mountain getaway.

Coker Creek, Tennessee

Was the site of the first “unofficial” Gold Rush in the late 1820’s and part of the Overhill Region of Appalachia (so named because former hostile natives had their villages “over the hill” from NC). Today, Coker Creek and Tellico Plains are hidden treasures surrounded by national forest, streams, and the Unicoi Mountains. Gold panning is still popular, as is trail hiking, mountain biking, camping, fishing, waterfalls, as well as whitewater rafting and kayaking on the nearby Ocoee River - site of the 1996 Olympic Whitewater events.

The Cabin

Cupid’s Cove log cabin is fully-furnished and comfortable with equipped kitchen, deck, balcony, outdoor spa, BBQ grill, WiFi, screened porch with rockers, satellite TV, books, games, movie videos & DVD’s. The bath has a shower and washer-dryer combo, and central wood-burning stove.

Cupid’s Cove also features a loft bedroom and sleeper sofa and can accommodate up to 4 guests. This cozy cabin is PURRR-FECT for a honeymoon or anniversary getaways.

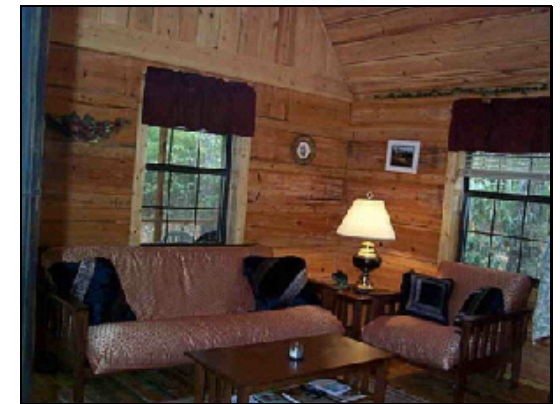

Getting There

Cupid’s Cove is in SE Tennessee near Highway 68, about 2 hours from both Knoxville or Atlanta. See our website for details.

Food & Entertainment

Groceries, supplies, gas, and restaurants can be found in nearby Tellico Plains and Madisonville. No beer or wine is sold on Sundays, however, so you need to bring your own.

Entertainment? Try the Cherohala Skyway, Cherokee National Forest, Lost Sea, waterfalls and a host of other activities and attractions nearby!
